Twenty-two are indicted for conspiring to distribute marijuana and methamphetamine

MINNEAPOLIS-- A federal indictment unsealed earlier today charges 22 people with conspiring to distribute large amounts of marijuana and methamphetamine in the Twin Cities. The indictment, which was filed on September 7, 2011, charges the defendants with one count of conspiracy to distribute and possession with intent to distribute 500 or more grams of methamphetamine and 100 kilograms of marijuana. The indictment was unsealed following the initial federal court appearances of 18 of the defendants, 16 of whom remain in federal custody. The defendants were arrested during the past week in California and Minnesota. Four indicted defendants are still at large.

Those charged include Adelaida Barragan-Sanchez, age 28, Robert Alan Delforin, age 54, Javier Hernandez-Coria, age 23, Harold James Hurley, age 55, Lawrence Joseph Martinez, age 60, Todd Allen Mudgett, age 42, Jose Rafael Ocegvara, age 28, Jacob Dwight Olmstead, age 33, Judy Lynn Redhorn, age 54, and Miguel Angel Sanchez-Rodriguez, age 22, all of St. Paul; Scott Wayne Doree, age 53, of Landfall; Susana Barragan-Sanchez, age 20, and Uriel Magana-Farias, age 25, both of Bakersfield, California; Brian Robert Bibeau, age 37, Jose Juan Gallardo-Hernandez, age 24, and Juan Carols Ruiz-Meza, age 28, all with no known addresses; Duane Eugene Smith, age 52, of White Bear Lake; Jose Ramirez Valdovinos, age 40, of Roseville; Jesus Lopez-Vasquez, age 25, of Spring Lake Park; James Peter Jeanetta, age 57, of Little Canada; Erika Romero Montenegro, age 30, of Richmond, California; and Jose Barragan-

Sanchez, age 28, of rural California. Jose Barragan-Sanchez, Delforin, Mudgett, and Magana-Farias remain at large.

The indictment filed in this case alleges that between January of 2010 and September of 2011, the defendants conspired with each other and others to distribute marijuana and methamphetamine. The drugs allegedly were delivered from California to Minnesota.

On September 3, 2011, Debra Doree, the wife of defendant Scott Wayne Doree, was fatally shot by Minnesota State Trooper David Kalinoff, when she attempted to flee a law enforcement stop in Oakdale. According to the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension ("BCA"), Kalinoff stopped Doree for a traffic violation on Interstate-94 at approximately 1:30 p.m. At the time, Kalinoff had information that Doree, a subject of an active multi-jurisdictional narcotics investigation, may be transporting drugs.

The BCA states that once she was stopped by Kalinoff, Doree agreed to sign a consent form, allowing him to search her vehicle. As Kalinoff walked back to his car to retrieve the consent form, Doree drove off. Kalinoff ran after the car and became hung up on the passenger side door. Then, while being dragged about 200 feet down the freeway, he fired his service weapon, striking Doree. Medics transported Doree to Regions Hospital, where she later died.

BCA crime scene investigators found suspected narcotics in Doree's car. The BCA lab has confirmed that the substance was methamphetamine in the amount of approximately 225 grams.

If convicted of the federal drug charges now filed against them, the defendants in this case face a potential maximum penalty of life in prison. All sentences will be determined by a federal district court judge.

This case is the result of an investigation by the United States Drug Enforcement Administration, the Minnesota State Patrol, the St. Paul Police Department, the Northwest Metro Drug Task Force, and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement-Homeland Security Investigations. It is being prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorney Steven L. Schleicher.

An indictment is a determination by a grand jury that there is probable cause to believe that offenses have been committed by a defendant. A defendant, of course, is presumed innocent until he or she pleads guilty or is proven guilty at trial.
